G. O. P. WINS IN STATE; TWO BREAKS IN COUNTY

Brumbaugh and Penrose Win Easily—Hallam and Sprowls Lose

TEMPLE IS DEFEATED

Present Congressman Loses to Brown by Total of About 4,000 Votes

Republicans made a clean sweep of Pennsylvania on the state and United States tickets at the election Tuesday. Republicanism swept like a mighty tidal wave over the entire state carrying practically everything with it, and regaining its place as the leading party. The state candidates elected were:

United States Senator—Boies Penrose.

Governor—Martin G. Brumbaugh. Lieutenant Governor—Frank B. McClain.

Secretary of Internal Affairs—Henry Houck.

Congressman-at-Large—John R. K. Scott, Daniel F. Lefean, Mahlon M. Garland and Thomas S. Crago.

Brumbaugh's majority over McCormick will approach close to 200,000. Penrose will have a plurality of nearly the same size over A. Mitchell Pamer, his Democratic opponent. Gifford Pinchot ran third, according to the figures which have been computed.

Judge Frank M. Trexler the appointee of Governor Tenner to the Superior court was elected by a big majority over James E. Clark on the non-partisan ticket.

Judge Robert S. Frazer, for justice of the state supreme court probably is elected. The vote for supreme court judge in 34 of the 48 wards in Philadelphia was. Frazer, 77,154; Kunkel, 43,391.

The Republicans also increased their membership in the congressional delegation, gaining possibly 15 seats over their representation in the present congress.

The political division of the delegation now is 18 Republicans, 12 Democrats and six Progressives. In the new congress, the Republican members from the state may total 29, and the Democrats three.

In the new Pennsylvania legislature the Republicans will be in a great majority. State Senator W. E. Crow has been declared a winner by a substantial plurality in Fayette county.

Washington county put up the most interesting kind of a fight, with the Republican candidates showing their heels to the other contestants, excepting in one or two instances.

The break in the Republican victory is in the state senate and assembly. In the district composed of Green and Washington counties, John W. Hallam, Republican, has been beaten by John W. Stewart of Greene county by about 1,000 votes.

Unofficially T. B. H. Brownlee has been credited with a victory for the assembly, beating out J. Add Sprowls by from 30 to 60 votes. Baker and Myers are safe.

In the district Congressman Henry prove Plan for Municipal Improvements

MAJORITY, 149 VOTES

The $75,000 bond issue for municipal improvements carried in Charleroi by a majority of 149 votes. This may be taken to mean an early beginning of the work of hill paving and the starting of a movement to secure a better municipal building.

The total vote was 405 for the issue and 256 against. Only in one precinct was the issue turned down, this being the fourth. There the vote was 36 for the issue to 50 against.

In the first precinct the vote was the heaviest for the issue. There were 147 votes cast for to 70 against. The fourth precinct was the next heaviest, the vote for being 87 to 30 against.

CHARLEROI VOTE IS SOLIDLY REPUBLICAN

Escaping Gas Troublesome

Firemen Called Out After Slight Explosion at Washington Avenue Home

When one of the girls removed the cup from a gas pipe in the kitchen of the Stanley Lotoh home at 718 Washington avenue Tuesday afternoon about 5:30 o'clock, without first turning off the gas, there was a slight blaze.

A fire alarm was sent in and the fire department quickly responded arriving on the scene in less than five minutes after the alarm was sounded. All that was necessary was to turn off the gas. The damage was slight. The gas caught fire from a heater in the next room.

VOTE IN BOROUGH IS HEAVY

Oyer 1,200 Ballots Cast
Tuesday by Charleroi Voters

FIRST, BIG PRECINCT

A heavy vote was polled in Charleroi on Tuesday, with the Republicans leading in everything. The total vote in all precincts was 1,205. As usual the heaviest vote was cast in the first precinct, and the next heaviest vote was polled in the fourth.

In the first there were 347 votes cast. In the second there were 192, in the third 134, in the fourth 236, in the fifth 139 and in the sixth 157.

The straight vote, which won the county and district for the Republicans was heavy. HOUCK LEADS TICKET

Veteran Gets Few Vo-
More Than Brumbaugh
—Pluralities Large

Charleroi returned—if it had a stray—to the Republican color in its vote of Tuesday and gave encouraging pluralities to all Republican candidates. There was no single variation from the order things. Republicanism carried everywhere.

Henry Houck, the veteran schoolmaster who was making the race secretary of internal affairs led the ticket, but at that he polled only more votes than Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh for governor. Both were exceedingly popular. Penrose enjoyed a plurality over his nearest competitor. Gifford Pinchot, of 243 over Brumbaugh's plurality over McCormick, who enjoyed the nomination both the Democratic and Washington party tickets, was 43 votes. McClain nearest opponent for lieutenant governor according to the Charleroi voting was Creasy. The Republican candidate led by 257 plurality. Houck plurality for secretary of internal affairs was 269. The four Republican candidates for congress at large, Crago, Garland, Lefean and Scott, were safe with a big plurality.

Much interest centered in the contest for congress in the district where there was some professional surprise. Congressman Temple, who was generally conceded a favorite third man. Brown, the Republican candidate was first with a plural over Barnum of California of 2 votes.

The contest was close in Charleroi for state senator, Hallam—leading Stewart by only 65 votes. Republican candidates were leaders for assembly. Following is the total vote throughout the town:

Senate.
Penrose 5
Pinchot 5
Palmer 5
Governor.
Brumbaugh 5
McCormick 5
Lieutenant Governor.

REPUBLICAN TRIUMPH
Republicanism triumphed gloriously at the polls on Tuesday. Pennsylvania returned with a whoop after two off years and presented its grand old party candidates with a complimentary vote that exceeded the expectations of even the most sanguine Republicans.

Great things are now expected. The election of a Republican to the United States senate, as well as Republicans to practically all the lower offices within the gift of the people was significant, of the desire on the part of the people to end the present business and financial depression and to do away with experimental legislation. Democracy in Pennsylvania was given the severest of blows, and not only that, but the returns indicate that the Washington party, which not so long ago was a potent factor in politics in the nation, state district and county has about collapsed. The vote means the rapid return of the Republican party to first place on the ballot, where it belongs.

In Brumbaugh, Pennsylvania will have a man who is qualified in every way for the gubernatorial chair. He will make an able successor to Governor John K. Tener. Dr. Brumbaugh moreover is presidential timber. His election as governor by such a splendid majority when opposed by the combined Democratic and Washington forces indicates that he is one of the strongest men the Republican party today has. He is a progressive Republican who will do more to unite the combating forces of Republicanism than any other man. He has already done that. The Progressive party, as it has been constituted, has been composed largely of voters normally Republican. That many of them have been attracted back into the fold by Dr. Brumbaugh is not doubted. That more of them will follow, because of his progressiveness, is certain. Hence the election of Brumbaugh as governor is especially significant.

The return of Senator Penrose is indicative of the desire of the people to keep a safe man in the upper house of congress, and to continue the sane policy that has characterized his past conduct.

There is much for speculation in the election figures, but the one fact is apparent, that Pennsylvania has had enough of Democratic times, and is going to be sane henceforth in its voting.

WHAT OF THE SOUTH?

While we are sending ship loads of Christmas presents to the orphaned children of Europe and contributing millions for the Christianizing of heathen lands, let us consider matters a little nearer home.

A great section of our own country is face to face with the possibility of financial ruin. A gallant people is making a heroic stand in the face of overwhelming odds.

The south is not able to market its cotton crop because of the war. And for its ready cash it depends largely upon that crop. And without cash it will be ruined.

There are many millions of dollars in the north waiting for profitable investment.

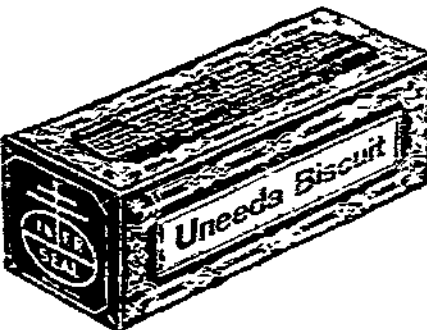

What better could the north do than to aid the south by buying its cotton and holding it until the markets of the world are again opened?

It would be a legitimate investment—doubtless a profitable one—and a brotherly action by a prosperous section of the country in aid of another section in distress.

It is not charity. The south does not want that. Its pride would not consent. But it would be good business donecast today.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The following advice has been given in an exchange:
"Householder—You ask how to carve a six-pound turkey, so it will reach nineteen guests besides a family of seven.

"Nothing easier dear friend, believe us. First you get the turkey. This the hardest part of the entire undertaking. Then you have it cooked a nice rich, nut brown and placed upon the table. Get the guests all seated so that they can all watch you intently. Then walk over to the stove-pipe and sharpen the carving knife on it. Jabe the fork into the turkey and take off your coat. Then swing the bird gracefully around your head three times and jam down in the platter and go after it with the knife. First remove the legs. Grab the left hand and jab around with the knife and listen to advice until you find the joint. There is only one joint that is tougher than a turkey joint and that is an opium joint. Remove your vest and roll up your sleeves. By the time the guests start to get on their wraps to go home you will have the first leg removed. The rest of it is simple. Don't get it carved until about 9 o'clock at night. By that time the guests will all have gone home and you and the family can have the bird. We charge for course.

Recently a Monongahela valley woman purchased a player piano. She used it vigorously and members of her family treaded music alleged or otherwise out of the affair by hour, day and week. Within about four weeks the player piano was a fit subject for the piano hospital. It was all run down and suffering from inertia. That is, the strings were tin-panny from the tremendous pounding that had been inflicted.

The woman was one of those good old German souls, whose intentions are always good, and whose knowledge of the English language is rather imperfect. She decided to have the player piano fixed and not only that but to secure some new rolls she had been promised by the salesman. Here is the letter she wrote:

"Dear Sir: There is something luse Send a man won't you please and fix something luse which is a string.

Mrs. P. S.—Please send dam rolls."

WAR NOTES

LONDON, Nov. 4.—A Constantinople dispatch states that Serbia has severed diplomatic relations with Turkey and the Serbian ambassador asked for his passports.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—On the allies left wing the Germans seem to have abandoned the left bank of the Yser downstream from Dixmude. To the south of Dixmude and in the direction of Gheluvit the allies have advanced. In the region to the north of the Yser the allies have been able to maintain their position against determined attacks. There has been violent cannonading between Rheims and the Meuse, as well as on the heights of the Meuse. The Germans have been checked in the forest of Argonne.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 4.—A dispatch from Berlin says that inundations south of Nieuport prevent all operations in that part of the country. The German attack on Yper is said to be progressing. More than 2,300 men mostly English have been captured and also several machine guns. West of Roye severe fighting has taken place with great losses on both sides. The German attack on the Aisne east of Soissons have been successful. More than 1,000 French soldiers three cannon and four machine guns have been captured beyond Chavonne and Soupir. The French have posted a heavy battery near the cathedral in Soissons and made the steepie an observation post. Between Verdun and Toul several French attacks have been repulsed. Troops of French soldiers wore German overcoats and helmets. The Russian first Siberian army corps on November 1 used civilians as breastworks while destroying a bridge.

MANCHESTER, Mass., Nov. 4.—The Austro-Hungarian ambassador received a dispatch which says that fighting in Russian Poland continues. The Russians had great losses on the river San. At Rosewan and south of Stary-Sambor 800 Russians and three machine guns were captured.

PAYS TO WATCH THE PENNIES

Real Explanation of Why Some Men Are Wealthy, and Others Are Directly the Reverse.

It is a habit that a rich man assumes to pick up a penny whenever or wherever they can conveniently, and sometimes they will go out of their way to do so. I remember when I was a small boy, that was nearly fifty years ago, a very wealthy man in our city came driving along toward a high overhead railroad bridge. I was playing with some companions of mine on the bridge.

I cannot exactly remember why it was done, but I fished a penny out of my pocket and was showing it to my boy companions when it slipped through my fingers and dropped to the pavement below. The wealthy old man drove up, and to all appearances he was in deep thought with his head buried upon his chest.

He saw my penny, however, deliberately stopped his horse, getting out of his carriage, picked up that penny, pocketed it, and returning to his wagon drove off as if nothing had ever happened.

There was a sad heart pulsing over his head, I can tell you, for a penny in those days was as big as a dime is to a boy today, and I felt the loss of it keenly. That man was a multi-millionaire, and by just such little things as that was how he was constantly accumulating more all of the time.

The average boy of today does not take advantage of his opportunities to make and to save. There seem to be too many forms of temptation thrown in his way to rid him of his extra dimes and nickels, when if they were saved and deposited in some savings institution a startling result would be achieved in a few years.—Portland Express and Advertiser.

DRAMA FOUND IN EVERYTHING

Philosophical Tribute to the Morbidly Curious, Who Are Subject to Much Criticism.

Dickens noted in his day—as I in mine—how casual people in the street would flatten their noses against the window of a chemist's shop in order to catch a glimpse of some little surgical repair which the victim of a trivial accident might be undergoing in the back parlor.

"Morbid curiosity," says the superior person, who may none the less have taken his own measures to become acquainted with each gory detail. The superior person is notoriously short sighted and may even be said to wear blinkers: the nose flattens are not, perhaps, articulate, and can give no philosophical description of the promptings which move them, but they are swayed however, unconsciously, by the excitement of their dramatic sense.

They are doing reverence, though ignorant to the foundation truth that there is drama in everything and even in nothing.—Percy Clare, in London Chronicle.

The Perpetual Blunderer.

Ever meet the affable gentleman who smilingly confesses that he has made a mistake in some matter or other and is richly and profoundly regretful—won't you forgive him—and bear the penalty of his blunder yourself, like a jolly fellow? Fine, gentlemanly, valuable acquaintance, isn't he—this fellow with the infinite capacity for blundering and the generous capacity to apologize and leave you to hold the bag, puzzled to know just why you grasped hold of the thing? Afterward you regret meeting him and try to transfer your business elsewhere, don't you? Of course, all of us make mistakes in judgment and action—and most of us are quite ready to condone the occasional lapse from accuracy—but what shall we do with the fellow whose blunders average 99 per cent or more? Where is his place in the business system of the world? Ought he not, as a mark of appreciation, be given a job driving a garbage wagon?

Woodchuck "Bile 'Em Fast."

Horace Kephart once asked old Uncle Bob Flowers one of his neighbors in the Smokies: "Did you ever eat a woodchuck?"

"Reckon I don't know what them is."

"Ground-hog."

"O, la," dozens of 'em. The red ones ain't good, but the gray ones! Man, they'd jest make yer mouth water!"

"How do you cook them?"

"Cut the leetle red kernels out from under their forelegs, then bile 'em fast—all the strong is left in the water—then pepper 'em and sage 'em and put 'em in a pan and bake 'em to a nice rich brown, and—then I don't want nobody there but me!"—Buffalo News.

Beauty of Character.

There is a sweetness of the child, and a sweetness of the old. The sweetness of the child is largely independent of his personality. It is in his ways and in his looks, and the same thing is true, though not quite so much of the young woman. But when sweetness comes at sixty it is "the expression of the very nature of the soul." J. M. Barrie somewhere, we believe, has said that an old woman is really beautiful until she is fifty-three. The beauty that is worth most is the beauty that is connected with the character itself.—Selected.

DON'T MISTAKE THE CAUSE

Many Charleroi People Have Kidney Trouble and Do Not Know It.

Do you have backache?
Are you tired and worn out?
Feel dizzy, nervous and depressed?
Are the kidney secretions irregular?
Highly colored; contain sediment?
Likely your kidneys are at fault.
Weak kidneys give warning of distress.

Heed the warning; don't delay—
Use a tested kidney remedy.
Read this Charleroi testimony.

Matt Miller, 210 Second St., Charleroi, Pa., says: "While I was living in Marion, Ind., I had trouble from my back; it ached all the time. I had headaches and dizzy spells and the kidney secretions were discolored and profuse in passage. I tried Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me promptly. When I have weak kidneys now, Doan's Kidney Pills never fail to benefit me. I am always ready to recommend this remedy. The public statement I gave some years ago, still holds good."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Miller had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

MOTHER SUPERIOR ROSARY HILL HOME

Tells How Vinol Restores Strength and Vitality to the Weak, Worn-Out Ones in Her Charge.

Rosary Hill Home, Hawthorne, N. Y.—"I have been at work among the sick and poor for nearly eighteen years, and whenever I have used Vinol for run-down, weak or emaciated patients, they have been visibly benefited by it. One patient, a young woman, was so weak and ill she could hardly creep to my door for aid, and was leaning on a friend's arm. I supplied Vinol to her liberally and in a month when she returned to thank me I hardly recognized her. She was strong, her color charming and her cheeks rounded out. These words are uttered from my heart, in order that more people may know about Vinol, as there is nothing makes me happier in the world than to relieve the sick."—Mother M. ALPHONSA LATHROP, O.S.D., Hawthorne, N. Y.

Such disinterested and reliable testimony should convince everyone of the merits of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic to build up health and strength for all weakened and nervous conditions, whether caused from overwork, worry or chronic coughs and colds. If Vinol fails to benefit we return your money.

Never Questioned

Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure and wholesome. It is made from highly refined, pure, cream of tartar, an ingredient of grapes. Not an atom of unwholesomeness goes into it; not an unwholesome influence comes from it. It perfectly leavens the food, makes it finer in appearance, more delicious to the taste, more healthful.

Its superiority in all the qualities that make the perfect baking powder is never questioned.

VARIED LENGTH OF INFANCY

Period of Helplessness Seems to Correlate with the Size of the Animal.

It is often remarked that the infancy of human beings today is longer than it formerly was. This seems to be inevitable, owing to the higher state of society. In a general way the more highly developed an animal is, the longer an apprenticeship it will have to serve before it is ready to cut loose from parental and other restraints and shift for itself.

Two interesting books have recently been brought out, which treat of this matter in infancy as applied to the various animals. The period of infancy varies very widely. Mice have practically no infancy, but at six weeks are parents of more mice. Human beings are helpless at birth and for years after. The horse is "grown up" at three years, while the elephant requires seven or eight times that length of time to develop fully. Thus the elephant is just entering upon life when the horse is ready to die of old age.

In a general way, says the Pathfinder, the length of infancy tends to run parallel with the relative bulk of the animal—the larger animals requiring more time to grow and develop their full vigor. In some cases lower animals attain maturity only by a succession of curious stages. The shell of a crab when once hardened cannot grow and the crab is forced to molt or cast off his outgrown shell from time to time and grow a new one a little larger.

A crab when growing this new shell is known as soft shell or "soft" crab, and at such times he is, of course, especially subject to attack from his enemies, as the shell, which is the natural armor, is wanting. In museums there are exhibits of as many as fourteen castoff shells of a single crab, beginning with a very tiny one and each one just a size larger than the last.

Shellfish have their skeletons outside them in the form of their shells instead of inside them. But what a waste of material is involved in a system which requires them to manufacture a new skeleton every new moon or at other short intervals, only to be thrown away as soon as it is finished.

The state of development of animals when born depends a great deal on the conditions that are to surround them during infancy. Young rabbits, which are born in an underground burrow, are blind, naked and helpless at birth; the young hare, which is own cousin to the rabbit, is born with its eyes open and covered with fur, and this because it is born above ground, where it is exposed both to the inclemency of the weather and predatory foes. Thus in a measure each is suited to its surroundings.

Growth of Germany.

A century ago there was no German empire—only a number of German states whose aggregate wealth and income were probably less than those of France. Now united Germany is estimated to possess an income of nearly $10,000,000,000 and accumulated wealth of about $80,000,000,000. During the century Germany's population has grown from 24,000,000 to more than 67,000,000, or 180 per cent.

NONE IMMUNE TO DISEASE SETBACK FOR THE OPTIMIST

It is Now Recognized as a Fallacy That the Weak Are More Generally Its Victims.

The claim has been advanced that the infectious diseases have benefited the race by the destruction of the unfit. This idea I have combated most vigorously since our study of typhoid fever in the army, writes Dr. Victor L. Vaughan in Science. My colleagues and I found that out of 9,481 soldiers who had previously been on the sick list report and could not be regarded as possessing standard health, 648, or 6.8 per cent, contracted typhoid fever, whereas out of 46,348 men who had no preceding illness, 7,197, or 15.3 per cent, developed typhoid fever. More than 80 per cent of the men who developed typhoid had no preceding intestinal disorder. Under ordinary conditions the strong, busy man, especially the one whose activities demand wide excursions from his home, is more likely to become infected than the one whose sphere of action is more limited, on account of infirmity. The reason for this is too obvious to need statement, and it follows that more men than women and more adults than children have typhoid fever. Moreover, the mortality is greater among the strong. Contagion, like war, destroys the very flower of the race. The view is sustained by the historians of the pestilence of former times.

Century-Enduring Bridges.

If the United States has vanished like the Roman empire five centuries or ten centuries hence, any Chinese or other yellow antiquarians digging into the ruins of this city can find remarkable evidence of a golden age of monumental bridge builders right in Philadelphia, asserted Chief Engineer George S. Webster of that city. He issued a description of some comments on 90 such bridges constructed in recent years which will endure for centuries. The same comments apply to sewers. He said:

"The construction employed today, at a reasonable increase in first cost, adds far more than proportionately to the beauty, permanence and final economy of the bridge.

"Where the head room and foundations permit, an arch bridge of concrete is built, and this should last at least five centuries, with possibly repairs to the lighter and more ornamental portions, such as the open balustrades, after, say, a century. Bare steel is now used only where the weight of concrete is prohibitive."

Bottle Stopper That Locks.

A bottle stopper that locks is a recent Paris idea, and will be very useful for keeping fine liquors out of the reach of persons for whom they are not intended. A metal cap fits over the bottle neck with a small felt-lined collar, which is pressed on by turning a winged nut, and when all is in place a small arm comes down alongside the wing of the nut so as to allow of running a padlock through the two holes. This prevents any turning of the screw and keeps the bottle tight shut.

According to Pessimist, He Had Failed Utterly to See Things in Their Proper Light.

"Look at this, will you?" exclaimed the cheerful real estate man. "In this paper there is a record of eighty-seven marriage licenses issued yesterday."

"Well, what of it?" said his partner, the pessimist of the firm.

"What of it?" echoed the other. "Can't you see? Those eighty-seven marriage licenses mean eighty-seven marriages. The eighty-seven marriages will lead to eighty-seven inquiries for houses, flats, or at least eligible apartments. It's bound to stimulate business in our line and we'll get our share."

"That doesn't follow at all. Those eighty-seven licenses represent 174 persons, don't they?"

"Yes."

"Probably all adults?"

"Undoubtedly. What of it?"

"Nothing," growled the pessimist; "except that 174 persons who have hitherto occupied 174 apartments will hereafter occupy eighty-seven, and that ain't helping our business any. You make me tired."

Wrong End of the Ticket.

Frank Wood, ticket clerk at Columbus, Ind., sold a ticket to a woman who expected to change from the Union station to the Chicago & North Western in Chicago. He noticed that she lingered near the window, looking at her ticket, showing it to a party of friends.

Finally, she appeared again at the window and announced reproachfully: "This ticket isn't right."

When asked to explain, she said: "Why, you know I have to transfer in Chicago, and it says right here at the top, 'this ticket is nontransferable.'"—Indianapolis News.

New Modern English.

Little lessons in manners where she deems them necessary are being given by Miss Agnes Scotland, stenographer to City Forester John Boddy, to school children calling at city hall for garden seeds this week.

"Tip your cap," she told a boy yesterday.

A dull stare of incomprehension met the suggestion.

"Tip your cap."

Still no response.

"O, lift your lid," shouted Miss Scotland.

Off came the cap. He understood last.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ALL THINGS SAFE THAT NIGHT

Reason Why There Was Nothing Extraordinary About Man Recovering His Lost Watch.

When the snow fell thickest on the first night of a storm last winter a Staten Island man got off the ferryboat at St. George and pulled out his gold watch to note the time, relates the New York Press. It fell from his hand into a pile of snow. He searched for it, of course, but as the wind was blowing a hurricane and he was numbed through he made up his mind he would have to let it go. So he reluctantly trudged up the street.

The next day when he went down to the ferry the storm had abated somewhat and as he neared the particular pile of snow where he had dropped the watch he determined to have another look. So he went to it. There was no mile a minute wind and no sleet in his face and his body was warm after a good solid breakfast.

He rummaged around for ten minutes or more and at last, to his great joy, he saw the watch, somewhat dirty, but still in a first rate state of preservation. He was so overjoyed that he had to tell his luck to a policeman who had been watching his search curiously.

"Oh, is that what it was?" said the bluecoat. "And you're surprised? Well, you needn't be. Can you name a man in the whole world who would have bothered looking for a watch last night? Why, anything you placed in snow would have been safe. I know men who didn't go home at all last night and they blamed it on the snow. And they didn't lose a smidge of their reputation. You couldn't lose anything last night."

MIRROR FOR DAINTY WOMAN

May Be Held in the Mouth, Leaving Both Hands Free to Arrange the Back Hair.

At last a woman may have both hands free to arrange her back hair as she looks in a mirror. This is made possible now by the invention of a mirror which can be held in the mouth, thus reflecting the back of the head from the main mirror of the dressing table.

It is the invention of a Frenchman, who has given so much thought to the elegancies of woman's toilet as the French?

This new mirror is broad, so as to give a good general view sideways, and, being fixed on a curved bar, stands well out from the face, so that there is no strain on the eyes.

At the bottom of the curved bar is the "bite," not too large for dainty mouths and covered with batting, so as to be easily held without harming the teeth.

Even the hygienic side of the use of this mirror has been considered, for a number of thick envelopes just fitting over the "bite" come with the mirror, so that you may lend it to your friend and neither she nor you fear any contagion.

Too Much Realism.

One of the most successful productions at the "Old Vic" was a play—written without Dickens' permission—round "Oliver Twist," and banned by the lord chamberlain owing to the realistic way in which Bill Sikes murdered Nancy. His lordship's jurisdiction did not extend to what were then called the "minor theaters," so the play was for many years a standing dish at the "Vic" and thrilled the galleries with fierce emotions, no matter how many times they had seen it.

"Nancy was always dragged round the stage by her hair," writes John Hollingshead, "and after this effort, Sikes always looked up defiantly at the gallery. He was always answered by one loud and fearful cry, yelled by the whole mass like a Handel festival chorus. When Sikes seemed to dash Nancy's brains out or the stage a thousand outraged voices," which sounded like ten thousand, filled the theater and deafened the audience below."—London Chronicle.

Strange Extravagance.

A witticism of James Hazen Hyde's is going the rounds of Pallard's, the Ritz, Armenoville, and other fashionable resorts of Paris.

A rich young Englishman, George Mitchell, paid, as everybody knows, a large sum for the privilege of being knocked out by Carpenter, the French champion.

Mr. Hazen Hyde, who attended the combat, said, as the battered Briton took the count:

"Here's a fine young fellow comes to Paris and pays $2,000 to have his face smashed by a boxer, when, for a hundredth part of the money, he could have it kissed by the prettiest girl at Maxim's."

Rats at School.

The managers of the West Hill infant schools at Epsom, England, are wrestling, but so far in vain, with a colony of rats. Rat-catchers have spent nights in the building waging war upon them, but they are still numerous. According to the schoolmistress, they peer out of the holes all round the room when the piano is played, and then come out and scamper about until the music stops. The children have grown so used to them that their appearance does not worry them.

Climbing.

"You folk are being taken up by society, aren't you?"

"Well, we don't believe in bragging, but we know three ladies who smoke cigarettes."—Newark News.

EXAMINATION FOR CHILDREN IS SUGGESTED

Commissioner John Price Jackson, of the Department of Labor and Industry has long been firmly convinced that children going to work between 14 and 16 years of age should have careful medical examinations showing that they are fitted for their work. Although his department does not have sufficient force to do this work, he has been endeavoring to obtain the co-operation of other agencies such as the local departments of health and in this work he has had the hearty support of Governor Tener. The following is some interesting data concerning work of this character done in Philadelphia.

During the months of June, July and August the children in Philadelphia between the ages of 14 and 16 who applied for labor certificates have been given a medical examination. This work has been carried on under the direction of the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry with the efficient co-operation of the Bureau of Health of Philadelphia and with necessary financial assistance and other important service given by the Pennsylvania Child Labor association.

The total number of children examined in Philadelphia in the above named work was 3,964. Of these 724 were found without defect; 3,224 with one or more defects. There were 336 certificates temporarily refused because of the need of proper glasses and 75 refused because of bad teeth. These certificates were afterwards granted when the defects were corrected. There were 16 certificates refused absolutely, because of the following defects: heart disease 2; poor nutrition and anaemia 1; refused to wear glasses 1; phthisis 3; phthisis with mitral regurgitation 4; suspicious tuberculosis of the lung 1; tuberculosis of hip with mitral regurgitation 2; rheumatism with mitral regurgitation 1; and nephritis 1.

Dr. John Price, chief medical inspector of the department, sums up the results of the examinations of these 3,964 children as follows: "The result of this examination shows the necessity of continuing this work so as to protect the children from being placed at work when they are physically unable to stand the confinement, long hours and often unhealthy conditions surrounding industrial occupation."

"It also, I think, demonstrates the need of classification of employments to which children should be eligible. That is, so children who are strong and well developed physically should be allowed to be employed in any industry permissible by law. Then there is a grade of children who are below par and who should only be allowed to be employed in such industries as insure plenty of outdoor life and not too long hours. Then there is still another class of children who should not be permitted to engage in labor until after they are sixteen years of age. This classification, in my opinion, should be made by a committee composed of various health officers and physicians who have been examining children in schools."
